7. STARTUP A RUMOUR

OVERVIEW:

"If people try to bring you down, show them how elusive you are!"

StartUp a Rumour is an event that explores noise marketing; you represent a leading company and tackle your competitor. Participants will be divided into groups, each having 3-10 members (depending on the number of attendees). Two teams are further made into a pair and are given the companies they represent. The teams in a pair get to set a rumour about their competitors and tackle the rumours claimed against them.

For example, Team A and Team B are the two leading Needle manufacturing companies. Team A should raise a rumour on Team B, where Team B will tackle it by converting this rumour into a promotional stunt. Then Team B will have to shoot a rumour on Team A, and the latter has to knock down the rumour through conversion. It has two rounds-- Round 1 is group-based, and Round 2 is individual. The team with the best tackling style and best rumours is considered to win, and the best performers of the winning team are selected for Round 2.

Round 1

Participants will be divided into groups of 5-10 (depending on the number of registrations). 2 groups will be given 2 different companies representing a single commodity. During the 1st round, the evaluation will be team-based rather than individuals.

The team (player/s) with the most creative rumours and the best defensive statements will be qualified for round 2. It must be noted that the criteria for winning are rumour generation and tackling. If the player has only one of the two, they do not qualify for round 2.

PRINCIPAL

Geethanjali College of Engg. and Tech.
Chaeryal (V), Keesara (M), Medchal Dist.(T.S.)-501 301.

Similarly, suppose there comes a situation where a team is very good at coming up with very creative rumours, and another team is good at defending them. In that case, the team that is just fine at both, i.e. rumour and addressing the rumour, will be qualified for the 2nd round. So, one team from each pair will be eligible for round 2.

Estimated time: 10min for grouping, 15 mins for the round, 5 minutes for evaluation

Total Estimated time 30 to 40 minutes

Round 2

In the second round, the participants filtered from round one will play individually. Each participant will be allotted a company. A WhatsApp forward, which is a rumour, will be presented. The participants will be given some time to think of a solution. After the time limit, the participants must offer their strategy to tackle the WhatsApp forward. The winner will be decided based on how well they deal with the forward and the realistic creativity of their answer.

Estimated time: 30 mins

WINNER SELECTION CRITERIA

The winner of the event will possess the following Skills:

- The ability to spread a sensible rumour
- The ability to tackle a rumour effectively
- The target of your rumour
- The ability to work both independently and as part of a team
- Accuracy and Initiative
- Bonus points for creativity and boldness

12. BUSINESS MIND

ABSTRACT

As it is an online event, I have decided to make it simple, creative and fun. And not forgetting the main aim of the event. This idea is completely based on the persons mindset on spot if you are given a challenge and you have to solve the problem. The person who is quick, creative and different will be winning the prize.

CONCEPT

This online event is a fun filled event where there will be a wall displayed on the screen and there will be different numbers displayed and there will be complete anonymous items or products behind the every number. Each one will be choosing some random number and the item will be displayed which is behind the number. The item will be displayed on the screen and accordingly one have to enact and show "How will they sell the item in the market" based on the given scenarios. It is completely based on the creativity and How uniquely you sell the product. While one is performing, one can take help or do it with me.

13. NEN FEUD

Description

Nen feud is a game based on the tv show family feud where two teams where the teams face each other in a game where the participants have to come up with the most popular answers given by a survey of people .

The game rules are-

One member from each team has to come forward to answer the questions

PRINCIPAL
Sri Sri Anjanjali College of Engg. and Tech.
Cheerpal (V), Keesara (M), Medchal Dist.(T.S.)-501 301.

The contestant who buzzes in first gets to provide the first answer. If that answer is the No. 1 survey response, his or her team gets control of the question. If not, the opposing contestant gets to try and provide a higher-ranking response to earn control for his or her team.

The team who wins control of the question then provides more responses, one at a time. They are not permitted to consult with one another during this part of the game. If a given answer is not one of the most popular, the team gets a strike. If the team can guess all of the most popular answers on the board before getting three strikes, they win the round.

If a team ends up with three strikes, control of the round goes to the opposing family. That team then has one chance to come up with one of the remaining responses on the board to win the round — if they fail, the other team gets the points.

Generally speaking, four main rounds are played in each game. If there is time, two more rounds can be played, but these are sudden death "lightning rounds.

The team with the most points at the end of the main game moves on to the Fast Money round. Two family members play this round. One team member stays with the host while the team member is deafened so he or she can't hear the answers. The first contestant is given 20 seconds to answer five survey questions, which are scored by how many people gave that same response in the survey.

After the first player's scores are revealed and tallied, they are covered up, and the second team member comes out to play. The questions are the same, but this time the player gets 25 seconds to complete the round, and if an answer is repeated the contestant hears a buzzer and is asked to give another response. If the combined scores of both team members are more than 200, the team wins the grand prize.
